

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

Royal Baking Powder

ABSOLUTELY PURE

[illegible]

year or so and then without settling anywhere, they notify the post-master that they will not be coming to the office. We enjoin the postal law for protection against such people.
The Government is now laid down by the United States Post Office for protection of the newspapers.
Subscribers who do not give exact names and addresses are considered as willing to continue their subscription.

If subscribers order the discontinuation of their periodicals from the office and they are directed, they say we are responsible until they settle their bills and order them discontinued.

If subscribers move to other places they do not inform us, they are considerable Gold or trade for CASH

Silver, or to Register, or to be found it by mail terred mail, and we will allow for it. We do not buy plated articles and we do not buy any new articles.

SOLID SILVER NOVELTIES sent to any address.

G. F. BARNES & BRO.,
524 W. Market St.,
St. Louis, Mo.

PAD
This firm is reliable - Publishers' Bureau.

Bolestin American Agency for any person who receives a newspaper or magazine, whether he has ordered it or not, is held by a subscriber who in advance they intend to give notice to the publisher at the end of their time, if they do not wish to continue taking it, or service the publisher is authorized to send it on, and the subscriber will be responsible until arrears are paid in full. If any payment of all arrears, is sent to publishers of newspapers can, under law, arrest any man for fraud who is not a member of the press. If this law is to be a law for its own sake, it is a law that will enable this man to allow his absorption of the law to run on from six months to a year and a half, unpaid, and then tell the poster to sue him for libel." The editor's postal card to the poster reads:

Dear Sir,
I have heard of Dr. Bell's Pine Tree Honey made at the store of Messrs. Gannett and Sons, 100 West Nile, and have many recommendations from old and reliable people of its wonderful value in curing Croup, Whooping Cough, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, etc. I had been seriously afflicted 25 years with a cold, which came in the neck and throat and was running

Send Ten Cents
and we will send you enough Pine-Tree Honey to cure your cough or any good cold that you may have Take your choice of Cure, Pine-Tree
Honey, or
C. P. BARNES & CO.,
100 W. Market St., Louisville, Ky.
This is no medicine - Positive Cured! Simple!

TABLET'S
DRY EYE

heard of Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey at the store of Messrs. Gurnea, and Co., Grand Rapids, many recommendations from distinct persons, and I bought a valuable marlin. I thought I would try it, as I had a nervous headache 25 years with a cough and pains in sides and breast that were uncurable. I have been taking it for $600 with doctors and for medical but everything failed. I tried wonderful remedy. It beats the others and has saved my life. I recommend Dr. Bell's Pine Tar Honey to everybody with weak lungs. It is a great medicine.
Grand Rapids, Mich.
May 10, 1893.
Sold by J. Wayne Griffin Bro.,
Grand Rapids, Mich.

C. A. KENNEDY, Esq.,
Treas. of Board.
W. M. Warkent, Louisville, Ky.
The Pine Tar Honey—Faintest Leaflet Borden.

TABLER'S
BUCK EYE OINTMENT
CURES NOTHING BUT PILES.

A PURE AND CERTAIN CURE KNOWN FOR 15 YEARS AS THE BEST REMEDY FOR PILES.

SOLD BY ALL DRUGGISTS.
GRIFFIN BROS. & CO., 107
N. 2ND ST., GRAND RAPIDS, MICH.

The apple is such a common fruit that few are familiar with its remarkable medicinal properties. If you once know that the very thing they can do to restore strength for the night. All that is lost back home. Why not it. Persons afflicted in the series of this fruit are liable to up their heads in horror at the sight of the frayed and broken may be common up, but no harm comes from a delicate system by the eating of ripe and juicy apples becoming to be true. The apple is an at brain food, because it excites the liver, promotes sound healthy sleep, and thoroughly dis-

R.I.P.A.N.S.
 —
 The modern standard Family Medicine: Cures the common every-day ills of humanity.

ONE GIVES RELIEF.
 ONE GIVES LIFE.

[illegible]

For two months, is getting well.—
J. M. JOHNSON, Maivers, Ark.
ELD REGULATOR CO., ATLANTA, GA.
d by all Druggists at $1.00 per bottle.

C. A. SNOW & CO.
Gen. Patent Office, Washington, D. C.

Hartford Weekly Herald.

FRANK L. FELIX, Proprietor.
HENDERSON MATHIAS,
FRANK L. FELIX, Editor.
Subscription - $1.00 per Year.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15.

If you can't raise your foot very high during sleazy weather, remember the old adage: it's a good thing to push it along.

Among the gentlemen who had their pockets picked at the inauguration we fell by the wayside of a newspaper man. The pickpockets knew whose pocket not to attempt to pick.

The Democratic National Committee will assemble in Washington on January 16th next for the purpose of selecting the time and place for holding the next Democratic National Convention.

The reason Chicago lost in the scramble for the Republican National Convention was the fact that the representatives from the Windy City would not guarantee $100,000 for "incidental expenses."

The brain of the average man is said to weigh about fifty-five ounces. The market value of this three pounds of gray matter fluctuates greater perhaps than any other known commodity.

The new Republican Congress has made no progress so far, except in doing nothing. The efforts of its members are confined principally to partisan foolishness and humbug, augmented by a desire to make a record by sensational methods.

People who attended Gov. Bradley's inauguration were rubbed right and left. It was a great day for pickpockets and they made the most of it. One thoughtless gaffer was relieved of his pocket-book containing over $7,000 in notes and greybacks.

Men would spend half the energy they exert after conviction to maintain nerve on the gallows, in the commendable purpose of serving themselves to death, there would be fewer ghastly melodramas like unto the one which Harry Hayward played the principal part.

For more than a year the terrible Turkish atrocities have been going on and thousands of helpless Armenians have been raped and butchered on account of their religious tenets. If this were some international question of amity, of less importance, it would long ago have been effectually settled.

COL. J. S. R. WEDDING is, we are reliably informed, a candidate for delegate from the Fourth Congressional District to the National Republican Convention to be held in St. Louis next June. Col. Wedding has been a constant worker and no small factor in the efforts of the Republican party but certainly deserves the honor sought.

ST. LOUIS was selected as the city in which the Republicans will hold their National Convention, which will take place June 16. This city has entertained several National Conventions, but the nominees have been invariably defeated, with the exception of Tillam, who was nominated there but was defeated out of his Presidential seat.

AND NOW Gov. Bradley smites his withstone with his opera pen and wails: "O, how me! Methought this was a place of ease and comfort and good pay, but behold how the office-seeker has sought me out and mangled my life a burden." Verily I was not that my constituents were such a set of cannibals or I would not have promised offices so rashly. Much more of this and I shall resort to where the duck first among the weeping willows."

EX-SENATOR ALLEN C. THURMAN, affectionately dubbed the "Old Roman," died at his residence in Columbus, Ohio, last Thursday. He sustained injuries in a fall several weeks ago which were primarily the cause of his death. In the death of Mr. Thurman the country loses one of its greatest statesmen, a noble patriot and a sage of national reputation. A long, useful and honorable career in public life endeared him to everybody, irrespective of political affiliation, and a universal sorrow at his demise prevails throughout the country.

The first official act of Gov. Bradley was to pardon a man who had been convicted in the eyes of the law of a heinous offense. The case of this man had not even come to the court or jury. His name is Ferguson and while acting as an election striker for the Republicans in a Louisville precinct he became engaged in a brawl and pulled his gun. Afterward he went to Frankfort and hid his case before Gov. Bradley, who, upon the testimony of the man and before the case could be decided by court or jury, forthwith pardoned him. This was certainly a very bad beginning for an executive who in his opening speech laid so much stress upon the right enforcement of the law.

On our first page will be found a short sketch of Rev. Dr. Devine, the patriarch of Kentucky preachers, who is well known to many of our readers. Full of years and honor in the service of God, and dearly beloved by all his acquaintances, he is now spending his winter holiday days in the full satisfaction of having utilized his talents well, and as he approaches that happy goal which is even now just ahead beyond a broadening horizon, he hears those joyful words, "Well done, thou good and faithful servant." May he be and his good wife who has shared with him his joys and sorrows which the world has to give, be doubly blessed, and may others, seeing their good model, be constrained to follow him.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
[From our special correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15, 1905.
Democrats have every reason to be perfectly satisfied with the Congress now in session. If it were not for the policy of introducing false impeachment resolutions for the purpose of delaying the session, the Democrats would be delighted to have the session continue until the end of the year.

We have made arrangements to have a weekly letter from the State capital to commence as soon as the Legislature convenes in January. The initial letter is published this week, which gives a full and graphic account of the situation in the State. Washington correspondence will also be kept up weekly, giving all the news, political and otherwise, at the Nation's capital. These features, coupled with our splendid news service in other lines and interesting articles from almost every source, conspire to make THE HERALD second to no weekly publication in the country in point of general interest. It is hoped that it will be read by all who desire to be kept up to date in the news of the country at large. If it's worth reading, you'll find it THE HERALD.

The indications now are that the policy pursued by the Republican Congress throughout the session will be one of marked inefficiency and not calculated to be of any material benefit to the country at large. They are at present engaged in a series of political tactics which are a disgrace to any party with pretensions to greatness. The real duty of its members is to be honest and to do the right thing to place the Republic on a party upon a firm footing for the Presidential campaign, and partisan feeling is being worked upon at every opportunity. It is truly a pitiable sight to see men who are elected to protect the rights and perform legislation in behalf of the whole people, so far forget themselves as to spend their time in electioneering for their party.

IMMEDIATELY after the decision to hold the Republican National Convention in St. Louis, Kentucky, began to pour into the various hotels of that city asking that quarters be reserved for different State delegations, and for headquarters for candidates and their friends. Several hundred rooms were thus engaged within a few hours. Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, was by far the largest contractor in this line. He engaged rooms by the dozen, regardless of expense. At one hotel 30 rooms were reserved for him, at another 20, and at another 20 with accommodations for 50 people. Altogether he will have nearly 100 rooms at the best hotels at his disposal. That Gov. McKinley will not attend the convention is a fact which is a foregone conclusion.

The execution of Harry Hayward, a notorious character and a criminal of Catherine Gray, an account of which we publish on the first page of THE HERALD, is one of those weird, uncanny stories that come upon us like some terrible nightmare, the details of which are shrouded with horror mingled with pity. Standing within the shadow of death and facing an awful sentence, he played a part which is calculated to inspire some souls with a certain kind of respect for the heavy which could manifest itself at such a moment, but at last it was but a well-acted tragedy by a man out of whose heart had gone all of his finer sensibilities and who only courted the applause of the hardened class to which he seemed to suppose he was playing. It was a despicable way for any man to die, and Hayward's attempt at the dramatic hero act drew only pity from the audience at his ill-kept scene.

THE DEADLY BARRETT.
A bill will be introduced in the coming Legislature of Kentucky to prohibit the sale or importation of cigarettes in the State. "We sincerely hope it will pass."

and before the case could be decided by court or jury, forthwith pardoned him. This was certainly a very bad beginning for an executive who in his opening speech laid so much stress upon the right enforcement of the law.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
[From our special correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15, 1905.
Democrats have every reason to be perfectly satisfied with the Congress now in session. If it were not for the policy of introducing false impeachment resolutions for the purpose of delaying the session, the Democrats would be delighted to have the session continue until the end of the year.

We have made arrangements to have a weekly letter from the State capital to commence as soon as the Legislature convenes in January. The initial letter is published this week, which gives a full and graphic account of the situation in the State. Washington correspondence will also be kept up weekly, giving all the news, political and otherwise, at the Nation's capital. These features, coupled with our splendid news service in other lines and interesting articles from almost every source, conspire to make THE HERALD second to no weekly publication in the country in point of general interest. It is hoped that it will be read by all who desire to be kept up to date in the news of the country at large. If it's worth reading, you'll find it THE HERALD.

The indications now are that the policy pursued by the Republican Congress throughout the session will be one of marked inefficiency and not calculated to be of any material benefit to the country at large. They are at present engaged in a series of political tactics which are a disgrace to any party with pretensions to greatness. The real duty of its members is to be honest and to do the right thing to place the Republic on a party upon a firm footing for the Presidential campaign, and partisan feeling is being worked upon at every opportunity. It is truly a pitiable sight to see men who are elected to protect the rights and perform legislation in behalf of the whole people, so far forget themselves as to spend their time in electioneering for their party.

IMMEDIATELY after the decision to hold the Republican National Convention in St. Louis, Kentucky, began to pour into the various hotels of that city asking that quarters be reserved for different State delegations, and for headquarters for candidates and their friends. Several hundred rooms were thus engaged within a few hours. Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, was by far the largest contractor in this line. He engaged rooms by the dozen, regardless of expense. At one hotel 30 rooms were reserved for him, at another 20, and at another 20 with accommodations for 50 people. Altogether he will have nearly 100 rooms at the best hotels at his disposal. That Gov. McKinley will not attend the convention is a fact which is a foregone conclusion.

The execution of Harry Hayward, a notorious character and a criminal of Catherine Gray, an account of which we publish on the first page of THE HERALD, is one of those weird, uncanny stories that come upon us like some terrible nightmare, the details of which are shrouded with horror mingled with pity. Standing within the shadow of death and facing an awful sentence, he played a part which is calculated to inspire some souls with a certain kind of respect for the heavy which could manifest itself at such a moment, but at last it was but a well-acted tragedy by a man out of whose heart had gone all of his finer sensibilities and who only courted the applause of the hardened class to which he seemed to suppose he was playing. It was a despicable way for any man to die, and Hayward's attempt at the dramatic hero act drew only pity from the audience at his ill-kept scene.

and before the case could be decided by court or jury, forthwith pardoned him. This was certainly a very bad beginning for an executive who in his opening speech laid so much stress upon the right enforcement of the law.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
[From our special correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15, 1905.
Democrats have every reason to be perfectly satisfied with the Congress now in session. If it were not for the policy of introducing false impeachment resolutions for the purpose of delaying the session, the Democrats would be delighted to have the session continue until the end of the year.

We have made arrangements to have a weekly letter from the State capital to commence as soon as the Legislature convenes in January. The initial letter is published this week, which gives a full and graphic account of the situation in the State. Washington correspondence will also be kept up weekly, giving all the news, political and otherwise, at the Nation's capital. These features, coupled with our splendid news service in other lines and interesting articles from almost every source, conspire to make THE HERALD second to no weekly publication in the country in point of general interest. It is hoped that it will be read by all who desire to be kept up to date in the news of the country at large. If it's worth reading, you'll find it THE HERALD.

The indications now are that the policy pursued by the Republican Congress throughout the session will be one of marked inefficiency and not calculated to be of any material benefit to the country at large. They are at present engaged in a series of political tactics which are a disgrace to any party with pretensions to greatness. The real duty of its members is to be honest and to do the right thing to place the Republic on a party upon a firm footing for the Presidential campaign, and partisan feeling is being worked upon at every opportunity. It is truly a pitiable sight to see men who are elected to protect the rights and perform legislation in behalf of the whole people, so far forget themselves as to spend their time in electioneering for their party.

IMMEDIATELY after the decision to hold the Republican National Convention in St. Louis, Kentucky, began to pour into the various hotels of that city asking that quarters be reserved for different State delegations, and for headquarters for candidates and their friends. Several hundred rooms were thus engaged within a few hours. Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, was by far the largest contractor in this line. He engaged rooms by the dozen, regardless of expense. At one hotel 30 rooms were reserved for him, at another 20, and at another 20 with accommodations for 50 people. Altogether he will have nearly 100 rooms at the best hotels at his disposal. That Gov. McKinley will not attend the convention is a fact which is a foregone conclusion.

The execution of Harry Hayward, a notorious character and a criminal of Catherine Gray, an account of which we publish on the first page of THE HERALD, is one of those weird, uncanny stories that come upon us like some terrible nightmare, the details of which are shrouded with horror mingled with pity. Standing within the shadow of death and facing an awful sentence, he played a part which is calculated to inspire some souls with a certain kind of respect for the heavy which could manifest itself at such a moment, but at last it was but a well-acted tragedy by a man out of whose heart had gone all of his finer sensibilities and who only courted the applause of the hardened class to which he seemed to suppose he was playing. It was a despicable way for any man to die, and Hayward's attempt at the dramatic hero act drew only pity from the audience at his ill-kept scene.

and before the case could be decided by court or jury, forthwith pardoned him. This was certainly a very bad beginning for an executive who in his opening speech laid so much stress upon the right enforcement of the law.

WASHINGTON LETTER.
[From our special correspondent.]
WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 15, 1905.
Democrats have every reason to be perfectly satisfied with the Congress now in session. If it were not for the policy of introducing false impeachment resolutions for the purpose of delaying the session, the Democrats would be delighted to have the session continue until the end of the year.

We have made arrangements to have a weekly letter from the State capital to commence as soon as the Legislature convenes in January. The initial letter is published this week, which gives a full and graphic account of the situation in the State. Washington correspondence will also be kept up weekly, giving all the news, political and otherwise, at the Nation's capital. These features, coupled with our splendid news service in other lines and interesting articles from almost every source, conspire to make THE HERALD second to no weekly publication in the country in point of general interest. It is hoped that it will be read by all who desire to be kept up to date in the news of the country at large. If it's worth reading, you'll find it THE HERALD.

The indications now are that the policy pursued by the Republican Congress throughout the session will be one of marked inefficiency and not calculated to be of any material benefit to the country at large. They are at present engaged in a series of political tactics which are a disgrace to any party with pretensions to greatness. The real duty of its members is to be honest and to do the right thing to place the Republic on a party upon a firm footing for the Presidential campaign, and partisan feeling is being worked upon at every opportunity. It is truly a pitiable sight to see men who are elected to protect the rights and perform legislation in behalf of the whole people, so far forget themselves as to spend their time in electioneering for their party.

IMMEDIATELY after the decision to hold the Republican National Convention in St. Louis, Kentucky, began to pour into the various hotels of that city asking that quarters be reserved for different State delegations, and for headquarters for candidates and their friends. Several hundred rooms were thus engaged within a few hours. Gov. McKinley, of Ohio, was by far the largest contractor in this line. He engaged rooms by the dozen, regardless of expense. At one hotel 30 rooms were reserved for him, at another 20, and at another 20 with accommodations for 50 people. Altogether he will have nearly 100 rooms at the best hotels at his disposal. That Gov. McKinley will not attend the convention is a fact which is a foregone conclusion.

The execution of Harry Hayward, a notorious character and a criminal of Catherine Gray, an account of which we publish on the first page of THE HERALD, is one of those weird, uncanny stories that come upon us like some terrible nightmare, the details of which are shrouded with horror mingled with pity. Standing within the shadow of death and facing an awful sentence, he played a part which is calculated to inspire some souls with a certain kind of respect for the heavy which could manifest itself at such a moment, but at last it was but a well-acted tragedy by a man out of whose heart had gone all of his finer sensibilities and who only courted the applause of the hardened class to which he seemed to suppose he was playing. It was a despicable way for any man to die, and Hayward's attempt at the dramatic hero act drew only pity from the audience at his ill-kept scene.

Come to Beaver Dam!

Having just closed a deal with the assignees of BAMBERGER, BLOOM & CO., whose enormous stock of goods has been thrown upon the market, at CLOSING-OUT prices, we are now prepared to offer to our trade the cheapest line of STAPLE and FANCY GOODS ever shown in Ohio county. This is an item of news which we feel will interest our friends both far and near, because in hard times "a dollar saved is a dollar made."

Now, friend, allow us to say, a visit to our store will certainly pay you. We have bought heavily of such Goods as we know that the people of this Green River Country need, and will buy when they see that they are getting Bargains.

Attention is especially called to our elegant line of DRESS GOODS, such as Serges, 52-inch Flannel Water-proof, with all the Trimmings, &c. Prices below the wholesale rates. We have large quantities of STANDARD PRINTS, which go at 5c—less than mill prices now. Also DOMESTICS at 4 and 5c, which can not be bought in the market at these prices. In BLANKETS, SKIRT PATTERNS, HOSIERY, UNDERWEAR, LAP ROBES, RUGS, and hundreds of other articles too numerous to mention, our line is elegant and prices down below cost of production.

We now call attention to our line of Goods especially adapted to the HOLIDAY trade and at the same time ornamental and useful for the home. We have ROCKERS of every style and variety, which cannot be had outside the city trade, and at prices lower than ever. In elegant QUEENSWARE, DINNER and CHAMBER SETS, ORNAMENTAL TABLEWARE, LAMPS, JEWELRY, ALBUMS, PLUSH GOODS, &c., suitable for valuable Presents and such as to afford both pleasure and profit, we have Headquarters, and prices TELL. In addition to this we have an elegant stock of Christmas Candles for Teachers and their Pupils, together with suitable Presents for Premiums, &c.

But the dear CHILDREN have not been forgotten. SANTA CLAUS has brought them great stacks of TOYS, DOLLS, BUGGIES, WAGONS, GUNS, BALLS, NUTS, CANDIES, in fact, everything they need. CHILDREN are especially invited to come to see us.

Finally, we wish to say to our Patrons that we have appreciated their trade through the year and for the remainder of the season we are BILLED for BARGAINS and good Goods. Come to see us.

HOCKER & CO., - - BEAVER DAM

CHAS. L. FIELD. R. HOLBROOK.

For Ky., or en before the first day of January, 1906, or before the first day of February, 1906, or before the first day of March, 1906, or before the first day of April, 1906, or before the first day of May, 1906, or before the first day of June, 1906, or before the first day of July, 1906, or before the first day of August, 1906, or before the first day of September, 1906, or before the first day of October, 1906, or before the first day of November, 1906, or before the first day of December, 1906, or before the first day of January, 1907, or before the first day of February, 1907, or before the first day of March, 1907, or before the first day of April, 1907, or before the first day of May, 1907, or before the first day of June, 1907, or before the first day of July, 1907, or before the first day of August, 1907, or before the first day of September, 1907, or before the first day of October, 1907, or before the first day of November, 1907, or before the first day of December, 1907, or before the first day of January, 1908, or before the first day of February, 1908, or before the first day of March, 1908, or before the first day of April, 1908, or before the first day of May, 1908, or before the first day of June, 1908, or before the first day of July, 1908, or before the first day of August, 1908, or before the first day of September, 1908, or before the first day of October, 1908, or before the first day of November, 1908, or before the first day of December, 1908, or before the first day of January, 1909, or before the first day of February, 1909, or before the first day of March, 1909, or before the first day of April, 1909, or before the first day of May, 1909, or before the first day of June, 1909, or before the first day of July, 1909, or before the first day of August, 1909, or before the first day of September, 1909, or before the first day of October, 1909, or before the first day of November, 1909, or before the first day of December, 1909, or before the first day of January, 1910, or before the first day of February, 1910, or before the first day of March, 1910, or before the first day of April, 1910, or before the first day of May, 1910, or before the first day of June, 1910, or before the first day of July, 1910, or before the first day of August, 1910, or before the first day of September, 1910, or before the first day of October, 1910, or before the first day of November, 1910, or before the first day of December, 1910, or before the first day of January, 1911, or before the first day of February, 1911, or before the first day of March, 1911, or before the first day of April, 1911, or before the first day of May, 1911, or before the first day of June, 1911, or before the first day of July, 1911, or before the first day of August, 1911, or before the first day of September, 1911, or before the first day of October, 1911, or before the first day of November, 1911, or before the first day of December, 1911, or before the first day of January, 1912, or before the first day of February, 1912, or before the first day of March, 1912, or before the first day of April, 1912, or before the first day of May, 1912, or before the first day of June, 1912, or before the first day of July, 1912, or before the first day of August, 1912, or before the first day of September, 1912, or before the first day of October, 1912, or before the first day of November, 1912, or before the first day of December, 1912, or before the first day of January, 1913, or before the first day of February, 1913, or before the first day of March, 1913, or before the first day of April, 1913, or before the first day of May, 1913, or before the first day of June, 1913, or before the first day of July, 1913, or before the first day of August, 1913, or before the first day of September, 1913, or before the first day of October, 1913, or before the first day of November, 1913, or before the first day of December, 1913, or before the first day of January, 1914, or before the first day of February, 1914, or before the first day of March, 1914, or before the first day of April, 1914, or before the first day of May, 1914, or before the first day of June, 1914, or before the first day of July, 1914, or before the first day of August, 1914, or before the first day of September, 1914, or before the first day of October, 1914, or before the first day of November, 1914, or before the first day of December, 1914, or before the first day of January, 1915, or before the first day of February, 1915, or before the first day of March, 1915, or before the first day of April, 1915, or before the first day of May, 1915, or before the first day of June, 1915, or before the first day of July, 1915, or before the first day of August, 1915, or before the first day of September, 1915, or before the first day of October, 1915, or before the first day of November, 1915, or before the first day of December, 1915, or before the first day of January, 1916, or before the first day of February, 1916, or before the first day of March, 1916, or before the first day of April, 1916, or before the first day of May, 1916, or before the first day of June, 1916, or before the first day of July, 1916, or before the first day of August, 1916, or before the first day of September, 1916, or before the first day of October, 1916, or before the first day of November, 1916, or before the first day of December, 1916, or before the first day of January, 1917, or before the first day of February, 1917, or before the first day of March, 1917, or before the first day of April, 1917, or before the first day of May, 1917, or before the first day of June, 1917, or before the first day of July, 1917, or before the first day of August, 1917, or before the first day of September, 1917, or before the first day of October, 1917, or before the first day of November, 1917, or before the first day of December, 1917, or before the first day of January, 1918, or before the first day of February, 1918, or before the first day of March, 1918, or before the first day of April, 1918, or before the first day of May, 1918, or before the first day of June, 1918, or before the first day of July, 1918, or before the first day of August, 1918, or before the first day of September, 1918, or before the first day of October, 1918, or before the first day of November, 1918, or before the first day of December, 1918, or before the first day of January, 1919, or before the first day of February, 1919, or before the first day of March, 1919, or before the first day of April, 1919, or before the first day of May, 1919, or before the first day of June, 1919, or before the first day of July, 1919, or before the first day of August, 1919, or before the first day of September, 1919, or before the first day of October, 1919, or before the first day of November, 1919, or before the first day of December, 1919, or before the first day of January, 1920, or before the first day of February, 1920, or before the first day of March, 1920, or before the first day of April, 1920, or before the first day of May, 1920, or before the first day of June, 1920, or before the first day of July, 1920, or before the first day of August, 1920, or before the first day of September, 1920, or before the first day of October, 1920, or before the first day of November, 1920, or before the first day of December, 1920, or before the first day of January, 1921, or before the first day of February, 1921, or before the first day of March, 1921, or before the first day of April, 1921, or before the first day of May, 1921, or before the first day of June, 1921, or before the first day of July, 1921, or before the first day of August, 1921, or before the first day of September, 1921, or before the first day of October, 1921, or before the first day of November, 1921, or before the first day of December, 1921, or before the first day of January, 1922, or before the first day of February, 1922, or before the first day of March, 1922, or before the first day of April, 1922, or before the first day of May, 1922, or before the first day of June, 1922, or before the first day of July, 1922, or before the first day of August, 1922, or before the first day of September, 1922, or before the first day of October, 1922, or before the first day of November, 1922, or before the first day of December, 1922, or before the first day of January, 1923, or before the first day of February, 1923, or before the first day of March, 1923, or before the first day of April, 1923, or before the first day of May, 1923, or before the first day of June, 1923, or before the first day of July, 1923, or before the first day of August, 1923, or before the first day of September, 1923, or before the first day of October, 1923, or before the first day of November, 1923, or before the first day of December, 1923, or before the first day of January, 1924, or before the first day of February, 1924, or before the first day of March, 1924, or before the first day of April, 1924, or before the first day of May, 1924, or before the first day of June, 1924, or before the first day of July, 1924, or before the first day of August, 1924, or before the first day of September, 1924, or before the first day of October, 1924, or before the first day of November, 1924, or before the first day of December, 1924, or before the first day of January, 1925, or before the first day of February, 1925, or before the first day of March, 1925, or before the first day of April, 1925, or before the first day of May, 1925, or before the first day of June, 1925, or before the first day of July, 1925, or before the first day of August, 1925, or before the first day of September, 1925, or before the first day of October, 1925, or before the first day of November, 1925, or before the first day of December, 1925, or before the first day of January, 1926, or before the first day of February, 1926, or before the first day of March, 1926, or before the first day of April, 1926, or before the first day of May, 1926, or before the first day of June, 1926, or before the first day of July, 1926, or before the first day of August, 1926, or before the first day of September, 1926, or before the first day of October, 1926, or before the first day of November, 1926, or before the first day of December, 1926, or before the first day of January, 1927, or before the first day of February, 1927, or before the first day of March, 1927, or before the first day of April, 1927, or before the first day of May, 1927, or before the first day of June, 1927, or before the first day of July, 1927, or before the first day of August, 1927, or before the first day of September, 1927, or before the first day of October, 1927, or before the first day of November, 1927, or before the first day of December, 1927, or before the first day of January, 1928, or before the first day of February, 1928, or before the first day of March, 1928, or before the first day of April, 1928, or before the first day of May, 1928, or before the first day of June, 1928, or before the first day of July, 1928, or before the first day of August, 1928, or before the first day of September, 1928, or before the first day of October, 1928, or before the first day of November, 1928, or before the first day of December, 1928, or before the first day of January, 1929, or before the first day of February, 1929, or before the first day of March, 1929, or before the first day of April, 1929, or before the first day of May, 1929, or before the first day of June, 1929, or before the first day of July, 1929, or before the first day of August, 1929, or before the first day of September, 1929, or before the first day of October, 1929, or before the first day of November, 1929, or before the first day of December, 1929, or before the first day of January, 1930, or before the first day of February, 1930, or before the first day of March, 1930, or before the first day of April, 1930, or before the first day of May, 1930, or before the first day of June, 1930, or before the first day of July, 1930, or before the first day of August, 1930, or before the first day of September, 1930, or before the first day of October, 1930, or before the first day of November, 1930, or before the first day of December, 1930, or before the first day of January, 1931, or before the first day of February, 1931, or before the first day of March, 1931, or before the first day of April, 1931, or before the first day of May, 1931, or before the first day of June, 1931, or before the first day of July, 1931, or before the first day of August, 1931, or before the first day of September, 1931, or before the first day of October, 1931, or before the first day of November, 1931, or before the first day of December, 1931, or before the first day of January, 1932, or before the first day of February, 1932, or before the first day of March, 1932, or before the first day of April, 1932, or before the first day of May, 1932, or before the first day of June, 1932, or before the first day of July, 1932, or before the first day of August, 1932, or before the first day of September, 1932, or before the first day of October, 1932, or before the first day of November, 1932, or before the first day of December, 1932, or before the first day of January, 1933, or before the first day of February, 1933, or before the first day of March, 1933, or before the first day of April, 1933, or before the first day of May, 1933, or before the first day of June, 1933, or before the first day of July, 1933, or before the first day of August, 1933, or before the first day of September, 1933, or before the first day of October, 1933, or before the first day of November, 1933, or before the first day of December, 1933, or before the first day of January, 1934, or before the first day of February, 1934, or before the first day of March, 1934, or before the first day of April, 1934, or before the first day of May, 1934, or before the first day of June, 1934, or before the first day of July, 1934, or before the first day of August, 1934, or before the first day of September, 1934, or before the first day of October, 1934, or before the first day of November, 1934, or before the first day of December, 1934, or before the first day of January, 1935, or before the first day of February, 1935, or before the first day of March, 1935, or before the first day of April, 1935, or before the first day of May, 1935, or before the first day of June, 1935, or before the first day of July, 1935, or before the first day of August, 1935, or before the first day of September, 1935, or before the first day of October, 1935, or before the first day of November, 1935, or before the first day of December, 1935, or before the first day of January, 1936, or before the first day of February, 1936, or before the first day of March, 1936, or before the first day of April, 1936, or before the first day of May, 1936, or before the first day of June, 1936, or before the first day of July, 1936, or before the first day of August, 1936, or before the first day of September, 1936, or before the first day of October, 1936, or before the first day of November, 1936, or before the first day of December, 1936, or before the first day of January, 1937, or before the first day of February, 1937, or before the first day of March, 1937, or before the first day of April, 1937, or before the first day of May, 1937, or before the first day of June, 1937, or before the first day of July, 1937, or before the first day of August, 1937, or before the first day of September, 1937, or before the first day of October, 1937, or before the first day of November, 1937, or before the first day of December, 1937, or before the first day of January, 1938, or before the first day of February, 1938, or before the first day of March, 1938, or before the first day of April, 1938, or before the first day of May, 1938, or before the first day of June, 1938, or before the first day of July, 1938, or before the first day of August, 1938, or before the first day of September, 1938, or before the first day of October, 1938, or before the first day of November, 1938, or before the first day of December, 1938, or before the first day of January, 1939, or before the first day of February, 1939, or before the first day of March, 1939, or before the first day of April, 1939, or before the first day of May, 1939, or before the first day of June, 1939, or before the first day of July, 1939, or before the first day of August, 1939, or before the first day of September, 1939, or before the first day of October, 1939, or before the first day of November, 1939, or before the first day of December, 1939, or before the first day of January, 1940, or before the first day of February, 1940, or before the first day of March, 1940, or before the first day of April, 1940, or before the first day of May, 1940, or before the first day of June, 1940, or before the first day of July, 1940, or before the first day of August, 1940, or before the first day of September, 1940, or before the first day of October, 1940, or before the first day of November, 1940, or before the first day of December, 1940, or before the first day of January, 1941, or before the first day of February, 1941, or before the first day of March, 1941, or before the

